

»We are much more than just our bodies, we are spiritual beings.« The renowned expert on death and dying offers practical help and advice to the families of those nearing the end of their life. He explains how we can make terminal care into a loving experience, how to deal with grief and loss, and the many different ways the deceased can stay in touch with the living. Case studies from his practice show how people have come to terms with painful bereavements. Healing verses and prayers offer tangible help for recognizing the deeper meaning behind all our life events and experiencing the immortality of the soul.
